NEWS RELEASE

Yan Zhang Brings Statistical and Data Expertise to Narragansett Bay Insurance Company

PAWTUCKET, RHODE ISLAND – March 30, 2009

Narragansett Bay Insurance Company announced that Yan Zhang has joined the company as a risk analyst. Ms. Zhang is an expert in statistical and data analysis, with extensive experience directing, managing, and organizing projects with multiple transactions.

Mark Talerico, Chief Risk Officer of Narragansett Bay Insurance, commented, “Yan Zhang thrives on challenges and can develop pricing models and provide contractual, cost and statistical analysis. She has experience with reinsurance, logistics, marketing and operational data. Her background demonstrates again our company’s objective of hiring people with technical leadership.”

Ms. Zhang’s responsibilities include stochastic simulation modeling, participating in the selection of risks, and reviewing individual risk characteristics and their marginal contribution to the portfolio.

Prior to joining Narragansett Bay Insurance, Ms. Zhang was a statistical analyst for the DataReward Consulting Group and a marketing and operating specialist for the Oriental Industry Co. in China. She also served as an intern for Huatai Life Insurance in Beijing.

Ms. Zhang earned a Master of Science degree in actuarial science from Boston University and a Bachelor of Management degree in human resource management from Tianjin University of Finance and Economics in China. She is fluent in English and Chinese.
